EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Timothy Czaja on August 18, 2005.

The application has been amended as follows:

in claim 1, in line 5, "an" has been deleted at the end of the line and - - a partially enclosed - - added;

in claim 29, in line , "an" has been deleted at the end of the line and - - a partially enclosed - - added.

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

none of the prior art of record discloses or suggests a resecting instrument and its method of use comprising in part the combination of the following:

an outer tubular member formed of an electrically conductive material and defining a proximal section, a distal section, and a lumen, wherein the distal section forms a cutting window open to the lumen and a partially enclosed axial passage distal the cutting window, the axial passage being fluidly connected to the lumen; an inner tubular member disposed within the lumen of the outer tubular member, the inner tubular member defining a proximal portion and a distal portion, wherein the distal portion forms a cutting tip; a hub assembly maintaining the proximal section of the outer tubular member and the proximal portion of the inner tubular member; and an electrical insulator covering a region of the outer tubular member distal the hub assembly, wherein at least the cutting window is not covered by the insulator.

The most relevant prior art is Peters (US 2002/0038122) who discloses all elements except for the “partially enclosed axial passage” distal the cutting window. The examiner has interpreted this to be a broad disclosure acceptable by itself though further defined by a ring in claim 2.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled “Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance.”
